KS Wins Week - Ties for First With LF

Is the MIP Early?

Effective date: 2016-10-25

snort, snort, I am awake now and see KS has beautifully guided himself into the top spot with LF. KS wins the week with nine wins compared to LF's eight wins. The Wiley old veteran is fending off the youngsters (LF and MS) to this point. BD and KB breath air into their 2016 campaigns with nine wins each but find themselves having to pick up the pace to catch KS and LF. MS, the only front-runner to pick NO showed keen insights and analysis ---not sure how MM and CM picked the same game---I think it has something to do with the blind squirrel metaphor. Hats off to DR who picked SD as a Loner pick. We had our first “kissing your sister” game when SEAT and ARZ crushed each other to a 6-6 tie. First tie since 2014. Not even sure what the saying means—not even sure we can say it anymore! Let’s talk MIP. I sense it has come a little early this year or I am just having a tough go of it the last few weeks. But, whether it is early or on schedule, the time-tested dreaded MIP is soon to take its toll. Only seven games separate the top eight players and we have seen how KS has picked up ground like a gopher in a corn field, so, it’s not over till it’s over. Remember the Thursday night game. To show our versatility and cross-over skill---I say “Go Cubbies!” Yours in football SS
