Lots of Movement in Week 14; KS Maintains Lead

SR Moves Within Striking Distance After a Shake-Up in the Top 5

Effective date: 2016-12-12

Week 14 delivered plenty of drama and excitement, fully preparing us for the final weeks. For those of you keeping up on the message boards, KS accurately pointed out the significant (that word would be in italics if that functionality were possible on this website) GOO we had going into this weekend. As a result, the top experienced quite the shake-up.

Although KS was able to maintain his hold on the top spot, SR went soaring through the rankings thanks to a couple key picks, such as GB's routing of SEA and MIA's win over ARZ. SR moved past LF to climb within one game of KS, while LF himself fell to three games out. SS moved back into a tie with MS at five games out. If this week proves anything, it's that big shifts are very possible in these final three weeks.

Top pickers this week were BD and BS who both snagged an impressive 13 winners each. Well done! BD's excellent picking brought her from nine games out to six games out of first and also into a tie for sixth place with JP, who also moved one game closer to the penthouse from last week. Other notable performances include MM who continued his hot streak with his third week in a row in the double digits. DP also had a success Loner Pick of HOU over IND. Impressive!

Buckle your seat belts, lady and gentlemen! If these final three weeks are anything like Week 14, we're in store for a crazy ride. Have a great week and get your Thursday picks in.

Happy Picking.

JP