Second Half Starts with a CLUNK

Home Team Picks Win the Day - Membership Posts Worst Week This Season

Effective date: 2013-11-04

There were 31 Home Team Picks this week and 20 of them were winners! This reporter can't remember when the entire membership had such a terrible picking performance. The group averaged only seven wins a piece in week 9. The finest highlight of the week was posted by JP who masterfully picked MIA over CIN for the week's only Loner pick.

In the GOO category, CM wins 2 out of 3 and KS sweeps his game against leader BS to move up in the standings. CM and KS occupy second place out by three games. DR and JP with their seven wins stayed even with BS but separated themselves from others; they are now tied for third place out by four games.

To reveal the MIP to the newer members, just look at our past Champ KS, who started the year with four straight weeks of 10+ wins and when last season is considered that streak extends to seven straight weeks, but this year's MIP season has KS posting the following win totals over the last five weeks, 8-9-10-9-8 wins. Based on historical results the MIP has another 3-4 weeks to run. Respect the MIP!

Milestone update has TB winning his 900th career pick. CM moved past Co-Founder GH to ninth on the all-time win list. CM 2,152 wins, GH 2,150 wins.
