LF flexes with 13 W's, SS one ups the leader

MM spit the bit-Logs 3800 lifetime wins in the process

Effective date: 2018-11-27

The Week 12 chapter is closed and with the light at the end of the tunnel in sight, we are seeing what members are made of… LF stayed hot in week 12 as he posted 13 wins to lead all pickers and lift himself into the 4th spot. DP and SS were next in line with 12 wins, which was good enough to push SS a game up on BS for the week. Great picking gents! At this point It looks to be a 3 horse race for the top spot, but a handful of others are looking to push themselves onto the podium for recognition of their own… Let's see the Drama unfold.

It was a second rough week in a row for our friend MM and the once steady picker we had come to expect has found himself on the outside looking in. Taking a tough loss on his NYG loner, he looks to get things back on track in week 13. A silver lining providing the glimmer of hope for him this week was that he logged his 3800th career win, and to that we say keep that head up and fight on good sir! CM also saw himself take a tough loss on Thanksgiving with his loner pick WAS losing a tough one to DAL.

Home stretch time now and to that I say best of luck to all the rest of the way!

Happy Picking,

LF, The Pimp