JP flashes 13 winners; jumps into the lead

KS joins the exclusive 5k win club

Effective date: 2019-09-17

Hello my fellow pickers and welcome to the week 2 recap, where banged up quarterbacks destroy fantasy teams and playoff aspirations alike. Better put, if you are a QB in the NFL and you made it out of week 2 unscathed then count your blessings. Notably, we saw a few big time vets go down this week, but also were gifted with a handful of tightly contested games which was a sight for sore eyes after last weeks' showing. JP was able to maneuver the mayhem with considerable ease taking 13 wins to the house and jumping up to the top spot on the leaderboard. LF followed close behind with 12 wins, while CM and SR chipped in 11 winners of their own to stay in the mix. Great picking gentleman!

PM was on loner watch this week, but came up empty handed as OAK had too much to handle with KC and the young phenom Patrick Mahomes slinging the pigskin around. Better luck next time PM!

Finally, a big congrats to KS on reaching the 5,000 win club! Just another achievement on an already illustrious career thus far. Keep rolling!

2 weeks down and a new set of questions come to the forefront. Can teams stay relevant through injuries? Can other stars step up? Or can we write off certain teams altogether? All questions that can only be answered week to week, so pick wisely my friends and I will see you back here in a weeks time.

Still Pimpin'
