Membership Struggles to Find Footing Early

KB Plays Spoiler with the Visitors; Leads the Way with 10 Wins

Effective date: 2024-09-17

Week 2 in the NFL season was one of those weeks that had membership stumped up and down the leaderboard. With upsets taking the headlines, it’s not a wonder that it proved difficult to to stack up the wins. Only three members were able to secure winning weeks and out of those only our leader logged double digit victories. KB was that man! Going 10-6 on the week, he decided it best to roll with the visiting teams and they did not disappoint him. With his performance he jumps to the top of the pile and gets to enjoy the fruits of his labor as we make our way toward week 3. Well done KB! DJ and DP were the other two notable performers as they logged 9 wins a piece and can rest easy knowing that they put together a solid week. The rest of the group will scratch their performances from memory and go back to the drawing board to prep for another week.

Six games were highlighted as loners this week across 5 members and here were the results.

DJ: TB, Win

LF: NYG, Loss

MM: NO, Win

MS: NE, Loss

PM: MIN, Win; CIN, Loss

Congrats to DJ, MM & PM on their victories! It’s not easy to be loners but you make it look effortless!

Two weeks in the books and the parity narrative is already swirling around the NFL. As teams try to figure out where they can separate themselves, the same can be said of the PFVCC. Can KB, DJ or DP double down on their strong weeks or will there be a new standout to make their presence known? Only time will tell!

Your President,

LF
